There's been a big change at Cricket For All.

Our Gilles Plains store has undergone a major expansion, creating a much bigger space to explore cricket equipment, compare your options and find the right gear for your game. If you haven't visited for a while, there's plenty to come back and see.

The photos tell the story: long walls of cricket bats, dedicated brand displays and equipment throughout the store. It's a substantial transformation, and we're excited to share it with the cricket community that has helped us grow.

Whether you're choosing your first junior bat, replacing a well-worn pair of gloves or getting your whole kit ready for the season, the expanded store gives you room to take your time. Pick up a few bats, compare how they feel and speak with our team about what suits your cricket.

Across the range, you'll find bats, batting pads and gloves, helmets, footwear, bags, balls and wicketkeeping gear, alongside clothing, protective equipment and training essentials. With brands including Gray-Nicolls, Kookaburra, New Balance and Magnum, there's plenty to explore for juniors, club players and experienced cricketers alike.

Choosing equipment is personal. The right bat needs to feel comfortable in your hands. Pads need to fit properly, and gloves need to let you move freely. Our team can help you work through those choices and find equipment that suits your size, experience and budget.

The expanded store sits alongside everything else that makes Cricket For All a place for cricketers: indoor nets, coaching, academy programs and our in-house bat services. You can browse the shop when you're in for a session or make a visit specifically to get your kit sorted.

Thank you to the players, families, clubs and coaches who continue to support Cricket For All. This expansion is an exciting step for us, and we look forward to showing you around.
